1. Objectives

Wellcome is looking for a supplier who can build skills in the Corporate Affairs department in evaluating performance, outcomes and impact of communications, brand, community engagement and campaigns.

The Corporate Affairs department at Wellcome builds trust, reputation and influence to advance Wellcome’s strategy and vision through engaging with internal and external audiences. It comprises three broad functions: communications, brand, community engagement and campaigns, and planning and insight. Please refer to section 7 for more details about Corporate Affairs.

This RFP is issued by the Insight team in Corporate Affairs.

This RFP is seeking a supplier to deliver MEL training, accompanying training assets, and coaching support to Corporate Affairs. Objectives of the work are:

- Activate the Corporate Affairs impact framework (in development) and improve staff understanding and confidence in measuring departmental outcomes and impact.
- Build a shared understanding of the purpose and use of MEL at department, programme and team level.
- Build staff skills in using various methods and tools to design and deliver fit-for-purpose MEL activities (e.g., evaluating objective, outcome, impact and process).
- Embed a consistent communications MEL approach to our regular projects and process through coaching support. Examples include annual integrated communications brief, promotion of funding opportunities, researcher engagement and events.
2. Specification

We are looking for a supplier who has a strong MEL expertise in integrated communications, community engagement, brand and issue-led campaign. Additionally, the supplier should have experience in designing and delivering engaging and accessible MEL resources and training to organisations.

The supplier will:

- Run an immersion phase to familiarise themselves with the programmes, activities, planning and delivery process in Corporate Affairs. The supplier should use this phase to review the CA impact framework, assess existing use, gaps, and opportunities in MEL in the department.
- Use the findings from the immersion phase to design and deliver bespoke training and resources that support the objectives in this RFP.
- Provide MEL coaching to two projects. See section 7.3 for examples of projects for coaching support.
- Make recommendations on areas for further improvement to strengthen the department’s MEL capacity.

We welcome suppliers to propose the most suitable methodology that will meet the aims and objectives of this RfP. Your proposal should consider the following:

- Training content that is suitable and practical for communications, brand, campaign and community engagement disciplines and for Corporate Affairs function at Wellcome.
- Training and accompanying assets need to be multi-formatted. In addition to in-person delivery of training, these trainings and accompanying assets need to standalone well for those who learn without attending in person. In-person training and the audio-visual and written training materials must be accessible and user-friendly.
- Training should consider different learning and information processing styles and accessibility needs.
- Topics of interests:
  o Principles and key concepts of MEL. In this RFP we refer to MEL as the practice of measuring activities, outputs, outcomes and impact to inform activity design, implementation and improvements. This will include, but is not limited to, programmatic and impact evaluations.
  o How to embed MEL throughout the life cycle of a project or programme, including: setting up an MEL approach at the outset of a project/programme, identifying evaluation and learning questions, data collection methods and sources, collecting data, setting baseline benchmarking, and using data to enable learning and continuous improvement.
  o How to choose which MEL approaches, including tools and methods, for projects and programmes of different scales and life cycle stages.
  o What constitutes good MEL and best practice.
Recommended metrics, benchmarking or reference data, data sources and data tools that are suitable to the target countries and regions where Wellcome’s communication activity happens (Europe, USA, East and North Africa, South and Southeast Asia)

- How to enable measurement and evaluation to support adaptive management and strategic learning in teams, as well as on a department and organisation-level.
- Trends, insights and best practices in equitable evaluation and inclusive data.

- Dedicated time and regular interactions with project owners to coach them through their MEL process.

Deliverables:

i. Modular training content and accompanying assets.

ii. 15-25 hours of in-person training, delivered over multiple sessions (suitable for 10-20 participants per session), staggered across 2-3 months to accommodate high workloads of some teams across certain months.

iii. On-demand training assets that can be used as stand-alone modules for those not attending in-person e.g. onboarding and upskilling new joiners.

iv. Coaching support for evaluations of two projects. Please refer to section 7.3 for examples of projects and areas for coaching support. Exact tasks will depend on project needs, but some examples include:
   - Meetings with project teams / managers to understand project scope and agree areas of coaching support.
   - Co-develop templates for evaluation framework, data capture / collection and reporting (e.g. dashboard).
   - Facilitate team discussions and interactions to agree on MEL approach and ensure a smooth MEL process.
   - Sessions with project team to review the data and reflect on the evaluation or learning questions.
   - Support to refine templates and process.

v. Practical recommendations on areas for further improvement to strengthen the department’s MEL capacity.

3. Timetable & Budget

We expect the bulk of the contract to be delivered between November 2023 – June 2024, though we are open to supplier’s suggestion if they wish to propose an alternative timeline that would still meet the objectives and deliverables in this RFP.

The department currently has about 100 staff. Corporate Affairs functions include:

Creative: generation of ideas and design-led communication projects using Wellcome’s brand identity; build a consistent and coherent identity and tone of voice for Wellcome.

Community Engagement: build relationships with communities around the world to create better contextual understanding around research priorities, to amplify the voice of those most affected and to augment research through community-based knowledge; works with a wide range of partners and exploring how funding and other resources can support collective action towards Wellcome’s goals and ensure long-term sustainability.

Planning and Insight: work in partnership with teams across the organisation to identify the communications, engagement and influencing strategies that will advance Wellcome’s mission. A major project that’s currently led by the team is an audience segmentation project to define Wellcome’s global audiences and understand who they are and how best to reach them. Specialist areas include strategic communications, audience insight, communications planning and delivery.

Wellcome adopts matrix working. In addition to delivering function-specific activities, Corporate Affairs staff work across teams and departments to deliver projects and programmes.
